ale Passes eign Aid n Program

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate today passed a two-year, $100 million program of foreign aid by direct appropriations.

The measure, offered by Democratic Sen. William Fulbright, chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, was accepted by a 68-20 vote.

The total amount is great. President Eisenhower had said the Democrats yielded to the Senate's demand for direct appropriations, but the Senate's action today was a surprise.

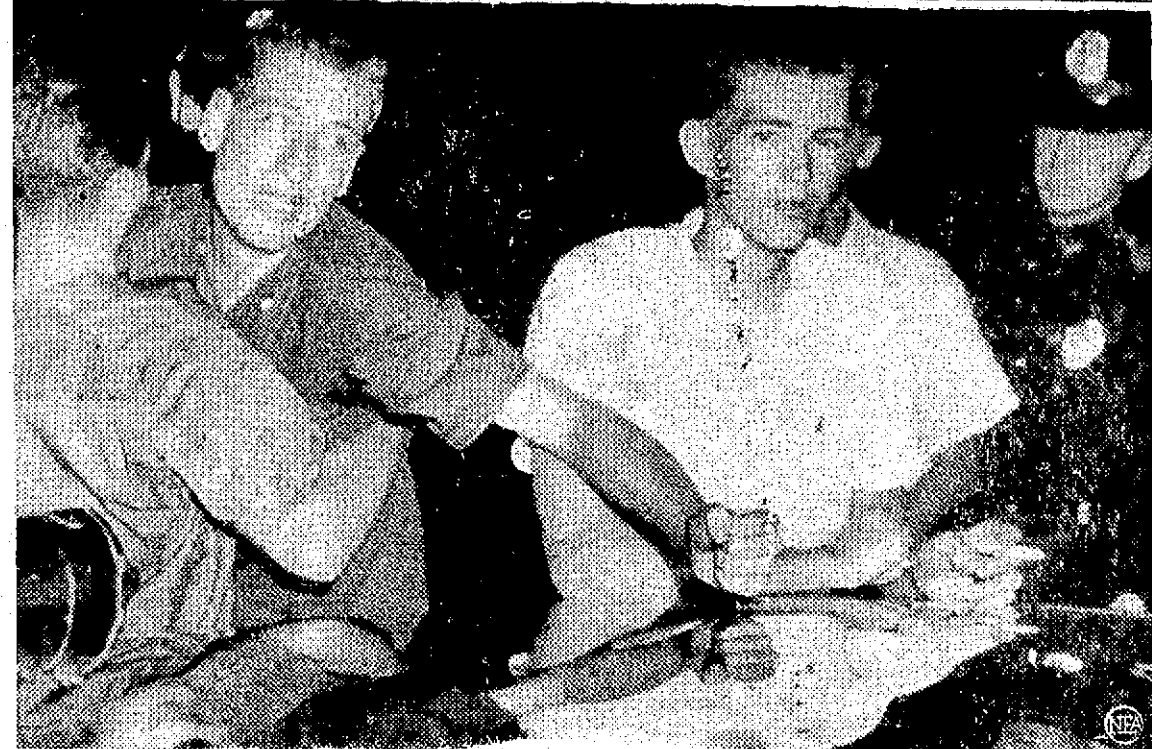

Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois, a Republican leader, had said the administration was not planning to borrow the money from the Treasury.

The program had originally been a $100 million program, but had been increased to $200 million by the administration.

Dirksen said the program was a "raid" on the Treasury.

The program would be financed by borrowing the money from the Treasury.

Dirksen said the program was a "raid" on the Treasury.

GOOD AS DEAD — "You're good as dead, we'll get you," shouts an 18-year-old youth, left, at Jimmy Aubrey Faulkner, not shown, after Faulkner shot and killed James Russell Liles, 17, during a disturbance at an apartment house in Dallas, Tex. The shouting youth and Liles were members of a group of teen-agers that had blocked the drive of Faulkner's apartment and in an ensuing argument Liles was shot. — NEA Photo

Hopes U. S. to Escape Fire Works Fatality

BOSTON (AP)—This may be the fourth of July when the nation may escape even a single fireworks fatality, Percy Bugbee, general manager of the National Fire Protection Assn., said in a statement today.

"As far as fireworks are concerned, we have almost reached the 'Safe and Sound Fourth' so long campaigned for," he said.

In 1939, the record was 5,533 fireworks casualties. There were 13 deaths, 177 eye injuries including blindness, 41 losses of fingers and hands, 37 fractures and internal injuries, and 5,305 cases of burns and lacerations requiring hospital treatment.

And this was by no means the worst year, he emphasized. In the preceding year such accidents totaled 7,951. By 1939, some states had already adopted the model fireworks law developed by the National Fire Protection Assn., as a result of more than a quarter century's campaigning for adequate regulation.

Today, Bugbee stated, only seven states—Louisiana, Mississippi, Missouri, Oklahoma, Texas and Tennessee—along with Alaska and Hawaii, do not control the sale and use of fireworks on a statewide basis.

WASHINGTON (AP)—A Pentagon fire today endangered 30 million dollars worth of statistical computing equipment, sent at least 15 firemen and building guards to hospitals, and routed hundreds of employees from the huge building.

Seeks Way to Use Idle Land in Ozarks

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. J. W. Fulbright (D-Ark.) has advocated a project to utilize millions of acres of land in the Ozark Mountains now covered by brush and scrub timber.

Take From Sales Tax Is $50 Millions

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Revenue Commissioner J. Orville Cheney said yesterday the state takes $50 million from the sales tax in the fiscal year ending June 30.

This was $2,233,135.57 more than last year's collection.

The department's gross collections amounted to $142,634,848.33, compared to $134,911,225.38 last year.

State income taxes were up almost half a million dollars over 1957-58 and totaled $15,787,755.22. Automobile license fees brought in 12,364,630.51.

Kennel Club Told to End All Trouble

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—The Hot Springs Kennel Club was on notice today to settle its intra-company row over control or face the possibility of loss of its temporary franchise to build and operate a dog racing track.

Two opposing stockholders groups aired their differences before the State Racing Commission yesterday.

The commission didn't take any official action, but member Ned Stewart of Texarkana told the stewards they better get their differences straightened out or they might have their franchise for the proposed Hot Springs track revoked.

Chief item in the dispute, which already has led to a court suit at Hot Springs, apparently is over ownership of some stock shares held by President Milton Creighton and three associates as "promotional" stock.

The total is 500,000 shares, half voting and half non-voting.

A minority stockholders group, who oppose the Creighton faction, think the voting stock should be replaced by non-voting. Creighton indicated he didn't intend to voluntarily relinquish any voting authority.

Stephens Co. Wins Big Tax Rebate

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—A judge ruled yesterday that the state wrongfully collected $360,837.43 in state income taxes from a Little Rock investment firm. He ordered the money refunded.

The firm, Stephens, Inc., argued that it was erroneously taxed for the fiscal year 1956-57 on profits derived from an out-of-state transaction and Pulaski Chancellor Guy E. Williams' decree agreed.

The company said it owed $10,424.21 in income taxes as it reported for the period from June 1, 1956, to May 31, 1957. It paid the additional tax and then filed suit.

Herr Northcutt, attorney for Revenue Commissioner J. Orville Cheney, said he would appeal the decision next week.

The tax was based on sale of 319,235 shares of common stock in Arkansas Louisiana Gas Co. at $21 per share at a New York City bank. The suit said Stephens paid 12.50 per share.

Beck Enters a Plea of Not Guilty

NEW YORK (AP)—Dave Beck Sr., former Teamsters Union chief, pleaded innocent today in U. S. District Court to a charge of accepting a $200,000 payment from two trucking company executives while Beck headed the Union.

A warrant for his arrest was issued Wednesday when he failed to appear for pleading before Judge Gregory P. Noonan. His attorney explained to the court today that Beck mistakenly thought the pleading date was today. Beck was released on $2,500 bail.

The trucking company executives pleaded innocent. Roy Fruchart of Birmingham, Mich., president of Fruchart Trailer Co., Detroit, was released in $2,500 bail. Borge Seymour, of Litchfield County, Conn., president of Associated Transport, Inc., was released in his own recognizance.

The two companies and Brown Equipment & Manufacturing Co., a subsidiary of Associated Transport, named as defendants, also pleaded innocent.

The government claimed that the $200,000 payment was made by Beck to the defendants, but neither the indictment nor the government elaborated.

Company Plane Crashes, Ten Executives Die

By BERNARD H. GOULD

MAHON, Ohio (AP)—Search crews fanned out through a heavy wheat field early today, looking for the remaining seven victims of an airplane crash that left little doubt all 10 aboard perished.

The plane, owned by the Continental Can Co., carried eight top company executives and a crew of two. It hurtled out of an overcast sky late Wednesday and crashed with such tremendous impact that bits of wreckage were showered over a 300-yard area.

The plane literally dug the graves for most of them. Only parts of three bodies were found. The others evidently were buried under the earth.

Eight were top executives returning to New York, where the firm has its headquarters, after a meeting of company officials in Chicago, Continental Can said.

The plane, carrying a crew of two, was believed to be a twin-engine B26 Martin. It was demolished almost beyond recognition. The wreckage was spread over an area 150 yards in diameter, a sheriff's deputy reported.

The aircraft hit with such impact that only one engine was found, said the deputy, Robert Obernour. The other engine presumably was buried with the victims.

The plane crashed shortly before 6 p.m. on the farm of H.F. Smith, six miles east of this north central Ohio city.

Smith was in his barn when he heard the aircraft approaching from the north. He said he thought it was going to hit the barn, but it passed over and crashed into the wheat field 100 yards away.

It was raining lightly at the time, a midafternoon thunderstorm having blown itself out.

The pilot had reported by radio to Marion Municipal Airport a short while before that he was flying over Findlay, in northwest Ohio. He said he was trying to skirt a thunderstorm north of Marion, and that he would report again when he reached Mansfield, 74 miles to the southeast.

He traveled about half that distance when, unexplained, the craft lunged out of the cloud-covered sky and crashed.

Alvin DeVore, a service station operator, said he watched as the plane soared over his station at 700 to 1,000 feet altitude, then suddenly crashed.

Pressure on, Some Strikers Return to Jobs

NEW YORK (AP)—Workers in two steel plants hit by wildcat strikes went back on the job today at the behest of union leaders.

David J. McDonald, president of the United Steelworkers, said 33,000 employees of the Jones and Laughlin Steel Corp., at Aliquippa, Pa., and 7,000 at U.S. Steel's Morrisville, Pa., plant had returned.

Still out were 9,000 Republic Steel workers in Cleveland. McDonald said he was "trying to get a rundown" on the status of 3,700 union members who quit work on Great Lakes iron ore carriers.

He made his announcement just before union negotiators met for further contract discussion with management representatives.

The walkouts spread in defiance of the back-to-work orders sent by telegram by McDonald and other top officers of the union. McDonald said "prompt and vigorous action" was being taken to get the men back to work.

The wildcat strikes broke out in defiance of a two-week contract extension agreement made after President Eisenhower intervened in the stalemated contract negotiations last Saturday.

The first walkouts came at the time of expiration of the three-year contract covering 500,000 union members employed in plants that produce 90 per cent of the nation's steel.

RECENTLY NAMED by the Little Rock Conference Board of Education as conference director of youth is Miss Irene Thornton, daughter of Mrs. Roy Thornton of Hope. Rotary Board Makes Plans for Projects

The Rotary Club Board of Directors met in the private dining room of the Diamond Cafe, Tuesday, President-elect, Frank McLarty presided.

Mr. McLarty made his committee assignments for the new Rotary year. Various club projects were discussed, and it was decided to again sponsor the Boy Scout Explorer Troop.

Mr. McLarty also donated to the Youth Center the money that he was to receive for the trip to New York to the Rotary Convention.

Dr. L. T. Lawrence was made an honorary member for another year. The group also voted to continue its support of the Youth Center with monthly donations.

Members present at the board meeting were Orrie Byers, Jim Cole, Terrell Cornelius, George Robison, Bill Tolleson, and Dr. Lloyd Guerin.

UA Affidavit Deadline Set July 15

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP)—Faculty members are expected to file organizational affidavits as required by a state law before a July 15 deadline, but a professor fighting the law in court has indicated he will quit the university rather than comply.

President John A. Caldwell, in setting the deadline yesterday, said he thought "few if any" of some 150 faculty members who have not signed the statements would refuse to comply. The instructors were issued conditional contracts with the provision that affidavits must be signed if the law—Act 16—were upheld in court.

Act 16 requires public school teachers, including college instructors, to swear to organizations they have belonged to or contributed to in the past five years. Otherwise they may not be employed.

Both a federal and a state court have held the law valid, but appeals of both decisions are pending.

Max Carr said he would not sign an affidavit and added "it looks like I will no longer be with the University after July 15."

Carr and Ernest Gephardt, a Little Rock teacher, are appealing Pulaski Chancery Court decision against them.

The Arkansas Supreme Court Monday refused to halt enforcement of the law, pending a final ruling on the teachers' appeal.

Snark Makes 1,000 Mile Return Trip

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—A Snark intercontinental guided missile shot 1,000 miles over the Atlantic today, then turned around and came back to the cape, the Air Force said, turning the round-trip flight highly successful.

The sleek, 89-foot rocket dropped smoothly onto the cape landing strip 4½ hours after it was launched. Special skids and a parachute that popped from the tail eased the missile's landing.

This particular missile successfully made the trip on two previous launches this year. On each recovery, crewmen prepared it for a repeat performance.

Earlier rockets dropped dummy warheads on Target near Ascension Island, 5,000 miles away. These rockets were not designed for recovery as is the Snark.

The Snark, which cruises at a comparatively slow 600 miles an hour, can zig-zag and dodge in flight to elude enemy defenses. The missile has an inertial guidance system which steers it and checks its accuracy by the stars.

Safety Council Wants Figure to Be Wrong

CHICAGO (AP)—The National Safety Council is one group of experts which hopes its predictions are 100 per cent wrong.

Among its tasks in the field of safety, the 47-year-old organization includes estimating the nation's traffic death toll on major holidays.

For the July 4 weekend the council estimates 350 persons will die in traffic accidents and 13,000 others will suffer disabling injuries.

"But our goal is no accidents at all," says an NSC spokesman. "All we are doing is telling people there is extra traffic, extra danger and therefore, extra accidents, and we are asking them to be extra careful."

Using mass communication media—newspapers, radio, television—the council pounds at the populace urging them to be careful.

Has it been successful? Council spokesman said definitely yes. "Who can say what the toll would be if this were not done?" he asked.

Still, the final tolls usually come close to NSC estimates.

Holiday estimates are based on a complicated formula applied to previous records for these holidays, current traffic volume trends, current toll trends, nature and length of the holiday and finally, the weather.

The council was formed in Milwaukee in 1912 at a safety session of a steel industry convention. Now its Chicago headquarters has a staff of 350 statisticians, writers, artists and traffic and industrial engineers. More than 280 other councils are affiliated in some way.

The council operates on a $1.5-million-dollar budget, nine-tenths of it supplied from membership fees paid by industrial concerns and from the sale of its posters, films, data sheets and technical information.

The council also publishes 13 national magazines with a circulation totaling more than 11 million.

The rest of its money comes from contributions.

The organization's president is Howard Pyle, former governor of Arizona and former presidential aide.

Says Now Time to Cast Out All Suspicion

WASHINGTON (AP)—Soviet First Deputy Premier Frol R. Kozlov said today the time has come to abolish once and for all the suspicion and distrust which he said mars international relations.

Kozlov called for a new era of U.S.-Soviet friendship which he pictured as a basic foundation for future world peace.

Addressing a combined meeting of the National Press Club and the Overseas Writers Club, the visiting Soviet official said that only recognition of "the principles of peaceful coexistence" could permit the use of atomic science for the benefit of mankind to build a period of progress "unprecedented in history."

The address was telecast nationwide by NBC. The jovial, 56-year-old Soviet leader spoke in Russian. An interpreter, N. N. Sukhodre translated.

Kozlov, whom some observers portray as the likely successor to Premier Nikita Khrushchev, said he considered this address a matter of "high responsibility."

Kozlov this morning canceled a scheduled tour in Maryland in order to devote his full time to preparation of the address.

The theme of his talk was that U.S.-Soviet relations should be built on the basis of friendship and trust, and he added that what he had seen so far in his tour of this country convinced him it is necessary "as soon as possible to eliminate causes of international tensions."

Kozlov's decision to forego his scheduled tour to Maryland followed earlier his sharp exchanges with administration leaders which apparently had jolted him.

Kozlov and his party had planned to tour the Agriculture Department's experimental farm at Beltsville in the morning in advance of his appearance before the National Press Club.

Cancellation of the trip seemed to emphasize the importance Kozlov attached to the speech.

There appeared to be no other explanation for the sudden change in program. Automobiles were lined up outside the Soviet Embassy ready to take the party to Beltsville, but Kozlov made no appearance and American sources on hand said he had called off the trip.

Kozlov engaged in a sharp duel of words with Vice President Richard M. Nixon on a variety of subjects.

It had been considered possible

State Warned of Severe Polio Season

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—The state Health Department warned today that Arkansas apparently faces a "severe polio season."

The department said 12 cases had been reported in the past two weeks, making the total for the year so far 24. At this time last year only six cases had been reported.

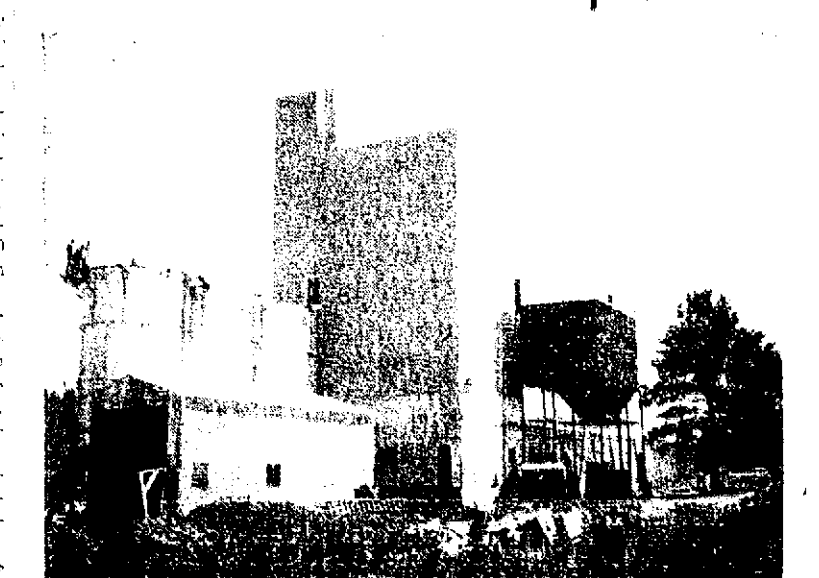

"All indications are that this will be a severe season," said Dr. M. Washburn, director of the department's division of communicable diseases.

All but two of the 34 cases reported have been in children under 10 years of age, and 25 of the victims had not been given polio vaccine.

Last week two cases were reported in Pulaski County, two in Jackson County and one in Conway County.

Dr. Washburn urged taking of the polio inoculations. He said about a third of the persons under 20 had received a three-shot series, about 60 per cent had one shot and about 31 per cent had received two shots.

THE STORY: A small, blond child about five years old walks out of the sea to Diane Paige, who is staying in a house on the seashore while convalescing from an illness. The strange child does not speak a word and seems terrified when Diane tries to lead her by the hand.

Chapter III

Diane Paige motioned to the child to lie down and the little girl obeyed willingly. While she lay with her head against the pillow, Diane hurried to the kitchen and looked to see what there was in the house for her to eat.

Not having expected guests, a certain not a child, there was little. A can of vegetable soup seemed like something the child would enjoy and which might do her good. Diane put it on to heat and wondered why it wasn't boiling quickly.

She was impatient to get back to the little girl and when she realized this, her nervous reaction with the spoon against the bottom of the pan, stopped. She told herself she mustn't become attached to this child who was helpless and pathetically in need of love.

Apparently, the child had either been abandoned and had wandered into the sea somehow, or fallen off a rowboat — because no motor-boat had come by. Or — and it made sense — somebody had taken her by the hand and walked her out . . . far out . . . to where the water was deep and where sorrow and care and desperation all came to an end.

The shocking idea was so uncomfortable to Diane that she had been through herself in pouring it, and she firmly took a better grip on her nerves. When she entered the bedroom with the bowl of soup, she was smiling.

"I haven't much in the house but I'm sure you'll enjoy this," Diane said. She sat down on the edge of the bed.

The little girl accepted the bowl bravely, and began to eat. She was well trained and her manners were delicate and wonderful to observe. If only she would show some reaction. If she'd smile — or even cry, but when she'd eaten all she wanted, she merely looked straight ahead. Diane took the bowl from her hands, crumpled the napkin she'd spread below it.

"I know what you need," she said. "A nice sleep. While you're in dreamland, I'll go see if I can find someone who knows you. If you wake up and I'm not here, don't be alarmed, and please stay in the house, please."

The little girl blinked sleepily, her first reaction of any kind, but she didn't utter a sound. Diane stooped, eased her down on the bed, made certain she was covered and, in a moment or two, the child was asleep.

Diane bent and put her cheek against the little girl's forehead and felt an inner glow of great happiness. The kind she had warned herself against. She gathered up the girl's clothes and distributed them around the kitchen to dry. Then she quickly made up a list of groceries to buy.

Another glance into the bedroom, assurance the child was sound asleep, and Diane closed the outer door softly and hurried to where the station wagon was parked. She drove rapidly toward the village, two and a half miles away.

Cranford was once a fish processing town, but the old canning plants had been closed for years and now the business was mainly farming. There were great apple orchards and some of the finest potatoes in the nation were grown right here in this coastal area.

Cranford's business center was small and picturesque, but not very efficient. There was the town constable's office, not even provided with a jail. The gas station was the only really modern enterprise in the village. It was large and gaudy and did a good business partly because it was the only one for several miles.

Diane first parked in front of Max Taylor's real estate office because she felt she knew him better than anyone in Cranford, having arranged the lease through him. He was not in and a sign on the door said he'd be away until after the weekend. The next best source of information next best source of information store she was going there for summer anyway.

Caldier's store was quite typical. It carried a little of everything, even to the old-fashioned groups of kerosene and a barrel of old-fashioned pickles were the only ones for several miles.

over to another long counter covered with bolts of various kinds of dress goods. Many of the farm women sewed and he did quite a good business in that line.

Caldier himself was a lean Yankee of a hard-to-determine age. He looked weather-beaten, though he'd never been to sea and rarely was out of his store. His voice was high and contained a whine he could never get rid of, even when he desperately tried to. He invariably wore a striped shirt that looked unworn and had a collar far too big for his scrawny neck. He wore old khaki pants, rolled up halfway along his calf and over it all, a large, enveloping white apron. A tourist who happily blundered into the store one summer, summed up Caldier as picturesque and that just about described him in operation.

Chapter IV

"Well, Mrs. Paige," Mel Caldier said in his gravelly voice, "I'm mighty pleased you're going to do business with me. Yes ma'am — real pleased. I've got about anything you could want for and what I don't have I try to get. If you give me a reasonable time to get it."

"I do need some groceries," Diane said. "Let me see now. I think about six quarts of milk . . . no, make it eight."

"Eight?" the storekeeper asked, in some awe. "I thought you were living at the Blanchard cottage alone, except weekends when your husband comes up from Boston."

"Yes, I am," she said, quietly resenting the inquiry in his tone. She went on: "Eight quarts of milk and a pint of heavy cream. Some packaged cake mix — several kinds. If you please, with frosting, too. And pudding. Cakes, chocolate pudding. Six packages will do. And bread, some cookies in boxes. Would you mind showing them to me?"

From his selection she picked four large boxes of cookies and smiled to herself. She was buying as if she expected the child to stay with her forever instead of only until the moment when Mel Caldier would be able to get word to the little girl's parents as to where she was. But Diane bought fruit and candy in generous quantities anyway.

"Now," she said when she had finished with the groceries, "have you any toys?"

Toys I ain't got. How come? I surprised where. "No ma'am. Toys I ain't got. How come? I thought you didn't have any children."

Again she resented the inquiry. She said: "If you'll just put everything in two or three heavy boxes which I can handle I'll tell you exactly why I'm buying all this and why I want toys."

"Yes ma'am," Caldier said, with a shake of his head. "It ain't that I'm curious, I'm just wondering."

While he packed the groceries, Diane wandered about the store, hoping to find something which might amuse her small guest. Then she discovered the Teddy bear at the end of the drygoods counter.

It had slipped down between two bolts of dress goods and she came upon it purely by chance. It was a well-used, probably well-loved Teddy bear, but quite intact, even to its shoebutton eyes. Its fuzzy surface was smudged and dirty and it was slightly out of shape in places, as if it had been hugged too hard.

Diane carried the Teddy bear back to Mel Caldier. "I found this," she said, and "I'd like to buy it."

The storekeeper put down the box of groceries he was about to carry out to her station wagon. "Now where'd that come from?" Wrinkles creased his brow. "Ma'am, I don't know."

They All Keep Trying to Get on Stage

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP) — Every year they troop here — the kids with the big hope.

They all have the same goal — to make a name in show business, to carve themselves a niche in the American theater.

They come from every part of the land, from every kind of background. Some are the sons of laborers, some are the spoiled daughters of the wealthy. Some wear the stamped neatness of the Ivy League, some look like the born beatniks they are.

Many of them share a startling lack of talent. All share a single thing — a vision of stardom, a picture of themselves posturing before an applauding world.

Why does anyone set out to be an actor or an actress? What motivates them? I can never decide whether it is blind ignorance, blind courage, or a blind and mystic compulsion they have no control over whatever.

It can't be sheer ignorance, because most of these kids know what the odds against them are. They know many actors are lucky to make $1,000 a year at their craft. They know the average performer doesn't earn a fifth as much as a plumber, a tenth as much as a dentist. Yet each is sure in his heart, for a time anyway, "I'll beat the odds."

There is something magnificent and tremendous in the way these young people march against the impossible. It is rather like watching massed infantry march, singing into certain disaster against massed artillery. It inspires you even as it breaks your heart.

In the beginning art is everything, means nothing. They take all sorts of odd jobs to keep them alive while they wait for "the one break."

Few ever get "That big chance" and even fewer go on to real success. Most of them succumb to these twin eroders of most dreams — time and common sense. They give up and go away.

And the one in a thousand who does come out on top in show business if he was lonely before, he is now twice as lonely — and three times as fearful.

Success, he finds, is not a perch but a prize fight ring with no real rest between the rounds. Finding "the right role" is now even more terribly important than getting "that big break" used to be.

He can't afford to take a chance. He is a big financial human pie, cut into many pieces — for the producer, his press agent, his manager, his fans, the collector. But if you asked him, he'd get out of the business. "The right role" is now even more terribly important than getting "that big break" used to be.

Thinks Gary Moore Show Has Improved

By WILLIAM EWALD United Press International NEW YORK (UP) — Garry Moore and his CBS-TV crew, all of whom embarked on a hiatus Tuesday night (in TV no one takes a vacation — a hiatus is considered much classier), can lay claim to one title: most improved new show of the past season.

The Moore hour started somewhat uncertainly last fall, but after a switch in production brains, its innards began to coagulate. Perhaps more important, the show bowed out an identity of its own, one that might best be described as champagne in a beer glass.

Tuesday night's closer managed to homogenize some fairly sophisticated material in a solution of shoes-off hominess and it did it artfully. The hour opened with a repeat of its medieval pageantry number harming slice of taffy; went on to a really complex arrangement of "It's All Right With Me" unfortunately misshandled by singer Vic Damone; offered the Mello-Larks and some of the Moore cast in a delightfully wacky roundelay; and capped this with a really rousing hit, "Hoop Dance."

Short Shots: The NBC-TV Jimmie Rodgers Show seems a little confused about its own character. It started out as a show pitched at the teen-age set and is now in a rather muddled state somewhere between Pabulum and Geritol.

Tuesday night's guests, for example, were Carmel Quinn and Teddi Thurman, the girl who does the sexy weather reports on NBC's Monitor, a rather weird new approach in lookings.

When star Ronald Reagan opened Tuesday night's CBS-TV Spotlight Playhouse with: "There was one word for our situation — 'desperate.' It turned out he was talking about being surrounded by Indians. For one wild moment, I thought he was talking about summer TV."

DOROTHY DIX

Stepmom Refuses to Rear Rebellious Six-Year-Old

By DIOITY DIX Dear Dorothy Dix: I had been a widow for some years when I married my present husband. Previous to our marriage, my husband had lived with a girl for six years. He had a daughter by her. A few months ago, the child was abandoned by her mother, who departed for parts unknown; my husband, of course, became responsible for her. He brought her home for me to bring up. The task was impossible. The child is six years old, has never been disciplined, is entirely without manners and I couldn't do a thing with her. She called me names, embarrassed me in front of friends, refused to obey at all. Finally my husband gave her to a relative who had no children. My husband visits his daughter but comes home snotty and sulky. He hasn't shown me affection since she left. My husband's family seems to think I should lay claim to one title: most improved new show of the past season.

Dear Dorothy Dix: My son has been married for several years and has three children. He calls his in-laws Mom and Dad but my daughter-in-law has never addressed me as anything but Mrs. L. They visit here, I bany-sit for them and am certainly not old-fashioned. She has commented to friends that she has nothing in common with me. What does that mean?—C.L.

Dear C.L.: Have you ever asked her to call you Mom? She may be self-conscious about it. Many girls are. Otherwise, you seem to have a nice relationship, with no dissensions. You would think so, too, if you could read some of my mail. As far as the "nothing in common" angle, she simply hasn't learned to meet you on an emotional territory. Talk to her about the things that interest you both: housekeeping, recipes, gardens, children, etc. It does take time for in-law relationships to develop, so don't be impatient. Just keep trying—but not prying.

Dear Dorothy D.: I'm beginning to wonder if my dance is for day — Betty Davis will star in another NBC-TV dance show, "The Dance," next fall. "The Flamingo" and "The Flamingo Story."

There's a report floating around that NBC-TV's Jack Paar is dropping his friend of some 16 years, Chris Carroll, from his backstage staff. — Carroll books in many of the feature acts on the show. Jack Paar will do three specials on CBS-TV next season.

Tuesday night, the young actress recently described by Dorothy Kaye as "a going on 27," has been signed in for "Secret Island," an episode scheduled for ABC-TV's 77 Sunset Strip next semester. — Carl Reiner will check out of the emcee job on CBS-TV's "Keep Talking" after July 15 to make a movie. — Vincent Price will spell him on July 27. — June Wilkes, the former child actress, is listed in the cast of the July 21 Peck's Girl show on CBS-TV. — The late John Foster Dulles' nephew, David Dulles, will be in the panel of ABC-TV's College News conference this Sun-ing had the effect of appropriating money in a legislative bill. He contended that was improper in the foreign aid bill under consideration.

Case ran into stiff opposition from other senators who contended that if his point were upheld, it could be raised also against housing, rural electrification, farm subsidy and other programs also financed without direct appropriations.

But backers of Eisenhower — supported by Democratic opponents of foreign aid spending — defeated a motion to kill the point of order when Case appealed a parliamentary ruling against him.

The Senate votes today directly on the point Case raised. It sustained, it would scuttle the five-year, five-billion-dollar program of development loans the committee proposed to provide direct from the Treasury.

Many Good Shows Draw Little Praise

By CYNTHIA LOWRY NEW YORK (AP) — Everybody sees "Highway Patrol," but nobody writes about it, to paraphrase an old saying about the weather. This police action show, one of the most popular, is typical of many others equally unnoted. These are the syndicated shows — as opposed to network shows — that are sold as a series to individual stations.

Many of these — and there are literally hundreds — are extremely popular, make lots of money and bring plenty of fame to their producers and stars. Among the best known are "The Silent Service," all about submarine warfare; "City Detective," a police series; "Sea Hunt," a skindiver's adventures; "Africa Patrol," a cop-and-robbers series filmed near Nairobi; "Stat Trooper," a western-flavored police casebook; and a raft of others — drama, situation comedy, documentaries, children's shows.

In many places these quiet little units often attract larger audiences than the network shows which are likely to be their local competition. For instance, in a recent AP survey, "Highway Patrol" drew a larger audience than "Playhouse 90" in another and "Desilu Playhouse" in still another. "Sea Hunt" in one region did better than Groucho Marx; "Reckless" pulled more viewers than "D. D. Beane" and "Border Patrol" and an edge on "Person to Person."

ESD Will Abolish 83 Jobs in July

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Eighty-three jobs in the State Employment and Security Division will be abolished next month, ESD Administrator J. L. Blair said today.

that if Kozlov had something new to offer the United States on outstanding issues, such as Berlin, he might not take the time to visit Beltsville. Until this morning, however, there had been no hint that he intended to do so.

In fact, the results of Kozlov's talks with administration leaders had created the impression that there would be nothing offered.

Well-informed sources reported that while Kozlov is pushing the theme of friendly coexistence during his visit, there has been a notable upsurge in the Soviet press of propaganda bearing a distinctly anti-American tone.

This has led to a conclusion by some experts that there would be no major Soviet offer and that the Soviet public was being prepared for the possible failure of East-West negotiations.

He had no further appointments for formal talks with U.S. leaders during his 16-day U.S. tour.

Kozlov talked Wednesday with President Eisenhower, Nixon, Secretary of State Christian A. Herter and leading senators. The outcome: a standoff.

Authoritative sources reported that in his 70-minute White House conference, and in an hour-long session with Herter, Kozlov only repeated the Soviets' familiar theme at the deadlocked Geneva talks on Germany.

Eisenhower and Herter countered with the American stand: that the Allies are going to stand firm against what they say is Moscow's threat to oust them from Communist-surrounded West Berlin.

The 50-year-old Soviet leader's unexpected joust with Nixon erupted at Nixon's reception for Kozlov Wednesday night at the President's guest house. The verbal battle could resume tonight, when Nixon will be Kozlov's guest at a Soviet Embassy reception.

Nixon, with Herter's help, admittedly scored at least one round in the debate.

Kozlov had complained to Eisenhower earlier about America's attitude toward the Soviet Union. For example, he said, the United States forced the Soviet Union to pay in gold for famine-relieving food sent the U.S.S.R. after the Bolsheviks seized power late in World War I.

Nixon shot back that only last Monday former President Herbert Hoover, U.S. relief administrator after World War I, had shown him a letter from the Soviets government expressing thanks for the outright gift which Congress had approved. Nixon said the record should be kept straight.

"The question is not one to be discussed, it is not disputed," Kozlov finally admitted through his interpreter. He seemed somewhat shaken, but he never lost his smile during the spirited discussion. Neither did Nixon or Herter.

denly dipped down and nosed into the field half a mile away.

In Chicago, a B326 Martin took off from Midway Airport at 3:30 p.m. This undoubtedly was the doomed craft. The pilot, in making out his flight plan, gave his name as Dunham, and his destination as Baltimore, Md.

Continental Can identified the pilot of its plane as John R. Dunham, Madison, N.J. His copilot was Donald Martin, Dover, N.J.

All the passengers, except one, lived in the New York metropolitan area. One resided in Baltimore, and it may have been that Dunham was going to take him directly home before continuing to New York.

The company identified the passengers as: Abbot W. Sherwood, Dobbs Ferry, N.Y., product sales manager of Eastern Division; J.R. Wallace, Pound Ridge, N.Y., product sales manager; R.I. Weinreich, Westwood, N.J., manager of products and materials; W.J. Mutsaers, Manhattan, N.Y., general manager of production engineering; M.D. Sandline, Baltimore, manager of the Mid-eastern District; H.G. Solfer, Wood-Ridge, N.J., production engineer for equipment and maintenance; J. De Birk, plant manager AT Passaic, N.J.; and J.M. Kelly, Darien, Conn., manager of production engineering of the Eastern Division.

Columbia county led the state in the value of mineral production during 1957 with a total of $28 million, a gain of 26 percent over the previous year. The county also led in producing crude petroleum and natural-gas liquids, and ranked second in natural gas for the year.

Come sundown... comes sudden death... in a town called, "Warlock." A great cast headed by Richard Widmark, Henry Fonda, Anthony Quinn, Dorothy Malone and Dolores Michaels, makes this one of the best motion pictures to come out of Hollywood this year. In cinematograph and color by deluxe, this mighty western was directed by Edward Dmytryk.

Pride in Home Kills a Woman

LONDON (AP)—Dorothy Olsen-Smith was a model housewife. Often she got up at 6:15 a.m. and polished and dusted until 10 at night.

The pride the 31-year-old woman took in her little suburban home killed her.

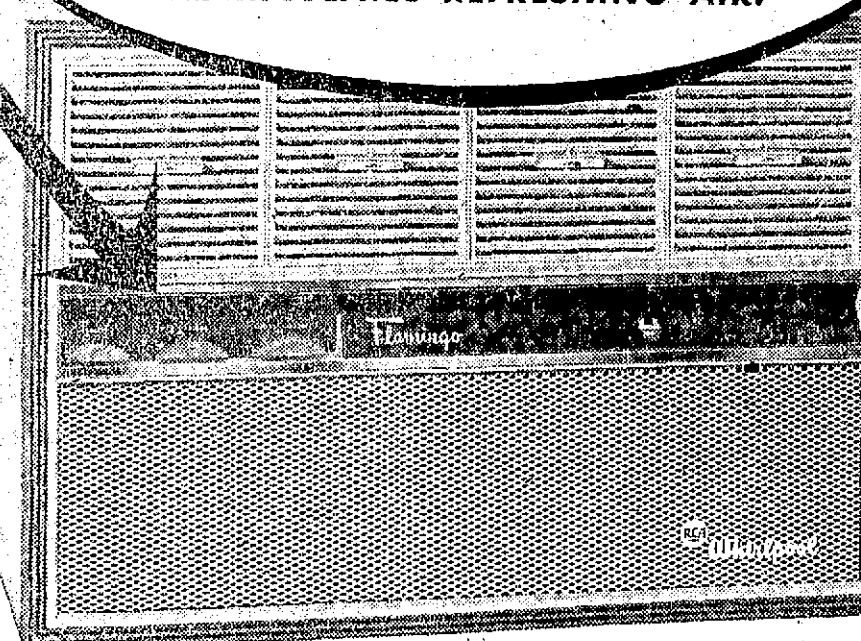

In a suicide note to her husband, she wrote: "I feel I am making your life a misery because I have no time for anything else but housework."

She moved an armchair into her spotless kitchen, turned on the gas taps, and set her two young girls on her lap.

Her husband, Cyril, told a coroner's court he found them when he returned home from work. His wife was dead. So was Vivien, 5, Marion, 2, recovered.

Keeping Yanks Down Turning Into Tough Job

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer

If somebody's going to grab the American League pennant from those New York Yankees, the rest of the clubs better stop squabbling over who is to do it.

Take Cleveland and Chicago, the two most likely to succeed. The White Sox dropped the Yankees to fifth last Sunday with a three-game punch. But while they scuffled through two games with the Indians, the Yankees jumped back to third.

The second-place White Sox spill the series at Cleveland with a 6-5 victory Wednesday night, cutting the Indians' first-place edge to one game. More important, it also trimmed the Indians' lead to three games over the Yankees, who beat Baltimore 4-0 behind the four-hit pitching of Ralph Terry.

Detroit, one percentage point shy of New York, beat Kansas City 3-4, Washington whipped Boston 4-1.

In the National League, the Chicago Cubs defeated St. Louis 6-5, and Philadelphia beat Pittsburgh 1-0 on the five-hit pitching of Gene Conley.

The White Sox won on Jim Landis' ninth-inning sacrifice fly and a clutch relief job from Turk Lown. Woody Held's two-run home run, his 15th, chased Gerry Staley, second Sox pitcher, in the ninth, but Lown then retired the side. That saved it for starter Barry Latman (2-2).

Terry (3-5), reacquired by the Yankees from the A's May 26, walked only one and struck out six for his first victory and complete game since May 3. Billy Gardner doubled and singled for half of Baltimore's hits. Hector Brown led it.

The Tigers beat Ned Garver (6-7) with a four-run seventh. Eddie Yost's single broke a 1-1 tie, and a double by Harvey Kuenn and singles by Charlie Maxwell and Gus Zernial put it away with two out against reliever Johnny Kucks. Paul Foytack was the winner for a 7-7 record.

Righthander Camilo Pascual, had Boston blanked on two hits and with two out in the ninth. Then he had two hits.

American Loop All-Star List Announced
BOSTON, Mass. (AP) — The American League announced its All-Star squad today and the name of Ted Williams was on the roster for the 15th time.

Williams was not selected by his fellow players on the basis of performance. But Casey Stengel, who will manage the AL Stars, said through Joe Cronin, league president, "If you had to look down the bench for someone to hit for, you'd have to pick Williams."

Stengel's decision to select Williams came two days after Fred Haney selected Stan Musial, veteran star of the St. Louis Cardinals, who, like Williams, is having a rough year.

Haney, Milwaukee manager, will pilot the NL Stars in the interleague match of baseball's best July 7 at Pittsburgh.

Williams, although hitless in the 1957 and 1958 All-Star games, had compiled a .317 average in the 14 years he played on the American League team. He has hit four homers and driven in a dozen runs.

Williams will replace Jim Lemon of Washington in the second-line outfield, which also includes Mickey Mantle of New York and Harvey Kuenn of Detroit.

Stengel made one other change. He named Gil McDougald of the Yankees as an infielder in place of Rocky Edging, runner-up for shortstop.

Stengel explained through Cronin: "McDougald gives me three players, you could say. I can use him at any of three positions."

As pitchers, the manager's prerogative, Stengel selected Jim Bunning of the Detroit Tigers, Bud Daley of the Kansas City Athletics, Ryne Duren and Whitey Ford of the Yankees, Billy Pierce and Early Wynn of the Chicago White Sox, and Hoyt Wilhelm of the Baltimore Orioles.

The team selected by the players has Bill Skowron of the Yankees at first, Nelson Fox and Luis Aparicio of the White Sox at second and short, Washington's Harmon Killebrew at third, and Rocky Colavito and Minnie Minoso of the Cleveland Indians, and Al Kaline of the Tigers in the outfield and Gus Triandos of the Orioles catering.

Stengel added Yogi Berra, Yankees, and Sherm Lollar, White Sox, as catchers. Lollar was runner-up in the player poll to Triandos.

Stengel also added to the infield Frank Malone and Pete Runnels, Red Sox; Vic Power, Indians; and Roy Sievers, Senators.

CINCINNATI (AP) — Little Tiro Face, Pittsburgh's unbeaten relief ace, and tall Gene Conley, swapped by Milwaukee last spring to Philadelphia, were among the veteran pitchers named by Manager Fred Haney to his National League All-Star squad.

The veteran Milwaukee pilot Tuesday selected 17 players to go along with the eight starters picked by the players themselves for the 26th annual All-Star game in Pittsburgh, July 7. The one surprise was Stan Musial of the St. Louis Cardinals.

Although Stan was named on only three players' ballots, Haney saw to it that this National League great was on the squad for the 16th straight time. Musial's batting average is .262 with seven homers and 29 runs batted in.

Conley Takes Another in Comeback Try

By ED WILKS

No doubt about it, long Gene Conley is the No. 1 contender for comeback of the year honors in the National League. And he's doing it the hard way—as a winning pitcher for Philadelphia's last-place Phillies.

The 6-foot-8 right-hander, who couldn't win a game last season for pennant-winning Milwaukee, underscored his selection to the All-Star staff by pitching his second shutout Wednesday night, beating Pittsburgh 1-0 with a five-hitter.

It was the sixth victory in 10 decisions for Conley. In the only other NL game, the Chicago Cubs defeated St. Louis 6-5. Milwaukee's game at Cincinnati was rained out, leaving the first-place Braves with a half-game edge over the San Francisco Giants.

In the American League, second-place Chicago trimmed Cleveland's lead to one game by beating the Indians 6-5. New York took the third from Baltimore with a 4-0 victory over the Orioles. Fourth-place Detroit defeated Kansas City 4-1. Washington rapped Boston 4-1.

Conley walked but one and struck out eight while gaining his sixth complete game and lowering his earned run average to 2.80. Dick Groat had two of the Pirates' hits, all singles.

The Phils had six hits, using just one to score in the third inning against loser Irv Niece (6-6). Joe Koppe walked, stole second and came home on Kliehe Ashburn's single.

The Cubs overhauled a 5-1 Cardinal lead with four runs in the eighth then won it in the ninth when Ernie Banks singled, moved up on an infield out and scored on Bobby Thomson's single. Don Elston (5-1) was the winner after a perfect relief job in the ninth. Lindy McDaniel (6-9) lost it in relief after giving up a two-run single by Al Dark that capped the Cubs' comeback in the eighth inning.

Gov. Long's Heart May Be Failing

COVINGTON, La. (AP) — Doctors say Gov. Earl K. Long, working restlessly day and night on fourth-term campaign plans, may now have a slightly failing heart.

Dr. Victory Lief, one of four doctors attending the 63-year-old governor, said Long had a slight heart failure Wednesday.

There was no indication the Louisiana governor suffered a coronary attack, he said but doctors are concerned about the condition. They stayed through the night at his motel headquarters here.

The governor suffered a heart attack in 1950. Earlier, Long announced plans to adopt a 14-year-old youth he met while they were both patients at John Sealy Hospital in Galveston, Tex. The boy's parents said they had not consented.

The youth is David Rankin, son of Mr. and Mrs. P. H. Rankin, of Texas City, who was hospitalized with a high blood pressure condition.

Long, in the midst of a separation suit from his 58-year-old childless wife, Blanche, said simply: "He got to like me and I got to like him. I've always wanted to have a son. Well, I've wanted a daughter too, but I can't chaperone one under the present circumstances."

David's parents said their boy and Gov. Long got to be good friends but they said it was untrue they agreed to adoption. They said Gov. Long phoned David last Friday. The governor invited David to visit him in Louisiana and said on whether to accept.

Rankin, a chemical plant power department foreman, has another son, Bobby, 27, and a daughter, Betty Ann, 15.

Long had a busy day Wednesday. He announced plans for a whirlwind vacation trip west to the Pacific Coast and up to Canada, then down through the Midwest possibly to Mexico. He said he would leave next Thursday.

Columbus Graduate Makes Good
Chester Leo Cheatham, a first place honor graduate of Columbus High School in May, 1958 has been released from the Dean's Office as maintaining a "B plus average" for the two semesters just completed. Chester carried thirty-two semester hours and made a total of seventy quality points. This automatically renews his scholarship for the next school term in A. M. & N. College.

The Columbus High School is the smallest Negro High School in Hempstead County with only two teachers doing the work from the seventh through the twelfth grades. This confirms the belief of the Principal that buildings and teachers are not the major requirements for a good school, but that the quality of work and guidance acceptable to the intellectual growth of the child is essential.
